Notarity

The Problem

Notarity users often arrive with a document, but they do not know which notary service they need. They may be unsure about the country, participants, apostille, shipping or appointment options.

What users face

Users have to understand notary terms before they can complete the booking. For first time users, this makes the process slower and more confusing.

Consequences

- More abandoned bookings
 - More support questions
- Slower appointment setup
- Less confidence for users

Our solution

We changed the flow so the document comes first. The user uploads their file, gets a suggested notary service and answers only the missing booking questions.

+ Chatbot support for notary questions

01. Document upload

02. Document analysis

03. Product suggestion

04. Guided questions

05. Pricing

06. Booking payload /
submission

Before vs After

The main change is not just fewer steps. The user no longer has to understand the whole notary process before starting.

BEFORE

The user has to choose the right service, understand notary terms and fill the form before knowing if they selected the correct path.

AFTER

The user uploads their document first. The system suggests the likely service and only asks for the details still needed.
